Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything could cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

FIVE ARE AGAINST HIM.

Only One Visiting Irish Delegate Favors Parnell.

THE OTHERS ASK HIM TO RETIRE

O'Brien and Dillon Both Against the Great Irish Leader—They Prefer Gladstone and Liberal Aid to the Leadership of Parnell—Home Rule in Danger.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Five of the Irish delegates, John Dillon, William O'Brien, T. P. O'Connor, T. D. Sullivan and T. P. Gill, have decided to join in the demand of those of their colleagues in Ireland who call on Parnell to retire from the leadership of the Irish people. Their decision was embodied in a manifesto, which was cabled last night to Justin McCarthy, as vice chairman of the Irish parliamentary party. The decision will be placed before the meeting of the Irish members to be held in London this afternoon. Timothy Harrington is the only one of the delegates to stand by Parnell. The fact of O'Brien and Dillon joining the opposition to Parnell practically settles, according to men competent to judge, the vote of the Irish party to be taken today on the question of the Irish leadership.

The Irish Delegates' Manifesto.

Our sense of the matchless genius of Mr. Parnell as a leader, of the imperishable services he has rendered to the Irish cause, of the courage, integrity and splendid success with which he has led our people for ten years and the tie of comradeship and personal respect and affection which for years bound us to him, have made us suspend to the latest possible moment our judgment against his further leadership. The obligation to express judgment is to all of us the most painful duty of our lives. No earthly consideration could have moved us to our determination except the solemn conviction that we are driven to choose between Mr. Parnell and the destruction of our country's cause. So painfully alive were we to all that might be involved in the loss of such a leader that we eagerly co-operate with our colleagues in every effort to retain his influence in our councils.

The manifesto which Mr. Parnell has just issued cuts us off from the last hopes to which we clung. Anxious to avoid any word that might embitter the controversy, we shall not dwell upon the cruel injustice with which he treats the members of the party that has followed him with a loyalty and affection such as no leader ever experienced before.

His recollection of this fealty to him in many an hour of trial might well have saved them the imputation that any section of them could have allowed their integrity to be sapped by Liberal wirepullers, nor would we do more than enter a protest against this violation of all constitutional principle in flouting by anticipation the decision of the elected representatives of the people, from whose votes the chairman of the parliamentary party receives his authority, and resorting to a vague general appeal over their heads.

Reckless and Unjust Imputations.

Considerations like these we should readily have waived in the interest of national solidarity; but the method in which, ignoring the origin of the present calamitous situation, Mr. Parnell endeavors to fasten the responsibility for it upon Messrs. Gladstone and Morley, compels us to dissociate ourselves in the strongest manner from imputations which we believe to be reckless and unjust. We view with abhorrence the attacks that have been made on Mr. Parnell by his public and private enemies under cover of his present difficulties. To attacks of this kind, addressed to a man of strong and proud spirit, we attribute many of the terrible dangers with which Ireland is now threatened, and we fear that they might do the further mischief of diverting the minds of many people from grave national to purely personal issues in the natural resentment of an unprecedented attack on a great leader in an hour of distress and disaster; but, while making every possible allowance for Mr. Parnell's feelings on this score, we consider it unjust to the English people, and lamentable from the point of view of international good feeling, to describe as English wolves howling for his destruction those who have not been able to bring themselves to the same view to which gratitude and the necessity for union impelled Mr. Parnell's own colleagues and countrymen.

Warm Support of Gladstone.

The plea of Mr. Parnell that Mr. Gladstone's letter involves a claim to dictate to the Irish party and thereby strike at the independence of that party as a strictly Irish national body is one calculated to inspire every Irish Nationalist with alarm if that plea were not an obvious fallacy. The Irish party was formed with the purpose of winning home rule for Ireland, and any interference in the interest of English parties would be an invasion of the independence of the Irish party, and, would, we believe, be repelled by no one more sternly than by our colleagues and ourselves who are in opposition to Mr. Parnell. But the very basis of our independent alliance with the Liberal party is the adoption by them of the programme for which the Irish party was formed and the recognition that it must be the first attack of a Liberal cabinet to realize that programme. Whatever differences of opinion may exist as to the haste with which Mr. Gladstone's letter was communicated to the public, it was obviously not his hostility to home rule, but his earnest desire to save it from disaster that prompted Mr. Gladstone to write his letter.

Gladstone's Alleged Treachery.

We deplore that the difficulties of Mr. Gladstone's position were not frankly recognized by Mr. Parnell, and that, on the contrary, friendly private communications—communications obviously made with a view of smoothing the passage of the home rule bill, have been made the basis of insinuations of treachery to the Irish cause. By his conviction again and again expressed that home rule to be effective must be such a measure as will satisfy the Irish people, Mr. Gladstone is bound to give a full and ample measure of self government to Ireland. To offer any other scheme would not only be an act of incredible baseness but of incredible folly, and we emphatically separate ourselves from any such charge against Mr. Gladstone.

Their Belief in Mr. Morley.

We think it deplorable that Mr. Morley's suggestion that some of the Irish party would cooperate in carrying out the Irish programme of the Liberal Home Rule party, would be so strangely interpreted by Mr. Parnell. Every member of the Irish party will of course agree with Mr. Parnell that the acceptance by any Nationalist member of office from an English ministry would be a breach of the elementary principles upon which our party is founded. But nobody who knows Mr. Morley's character will doubt that the suggestion was made in the honest belief that a Liberal ministry would be helped in the difficult work of carrying through the details of an Irish home rule bill by the cooperation of Irish colleagues, and it was not an insidious attempt on the integrity and independence of the Irish party.

Parnell's Rash and Fatal Path.

We have now to confront the statement that Mr. Parnell's leadership opens an impassable gulf between the representatives of Ireland and the Liberal party who have faithfully observed their part of their side of the agreements as to the national claims of Ireland, and the situation is aggravated by deplorable expressions of ill will toward the British people who have again and again within the past five years manifested their determination to do justice to Ireland, and have by their votes paralyzed the arm of coercion. In deliberately bringing things to this position Mr. Parnell has entered upon a rash and fatal path upon which every consideration of Ireland's safety, as well as of personal honor, forbid us absolutely to follow him. In the future of a party thus isolated and discredited we cannot imagine how any Irishman was no less anything but destruction of the hopes of self government, happiness and peace which but a few weeks ago were on the point of being realized for our people, so tried by many years of sacrifices and suffering.

What Mr. Parnell asks us to do, stripped of all side issues, is to sacrifice all the hopes of an early settlement of the Irish struggle to his resolution to maintain his personal position. We are driven to choose between our leader and our cause. In that sad choice we cannot hesitate. We lay these views before all our colleagues of the Irish parliamentary party in the earnest belief that a decisive vote on their part will deliver Ireland from the fearful anxiety that now overhangs her people. We are convinced that a calm but resolute course of action on our part in this cruel emergency will redound to the advantage of our cause by furnishing conclusive testimony of the capacity of our party and of our people for self government. We cannot relinquish the hope that in the face of such decisive action by the elective representatives of the Irish people Mr. Parnell's sense of patriotism will withhold him from plunging Ireland into those horrors of dissension which have so often already in her tragic and unhappy history robbed her of liberty at the moment it was within her grasp, and will save him from undoing in one passionate hour the results of all his incomparable services to his country.

The Fight Against Parnell.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The Telegraph is not alone in its opinion that there is a good deal of "unconscious humor" about the proceedings of the Irish members in their quarrel over the leadership. It is plain that at present a majority exists against Mr. Parnell. "Why, then," many ask, "do not the majority settle the matter by a simple vote, instead of cringing before Mr. Parnell and allowing him to preside over a body which is discussing his case, and not only to preside but to show the most outrageous unfairness in presiding." Good parliamentarians say that it would be perfectly regular for the members opposed to Mr. Parnell to meet by themselves and vote him out of the leadership, if they constitute a majority of the party. The reason this is not done, however, is that it would have the appearance of irregularity, no matter how regular it might really be, and this fact would be used in Mr. Parnell's favor among the more ignorant portions of the Irish constituencies. And it must be remembered that no matter what the meetings in London may decide, the final decision rests with the Irish people. Parnell does not care what the present members do in his case.

Successful Fight for Delay.

At yesterday's meeting Parnell and his friends continued their battle for delay so very successfully that all hope of settling the question during the day was abandoned. During the progress of the afternoon's session a sharp controversy arose between the members present concerning the use of cable dispatches for the purpose of influencing the minds of the American delegates. Mr. Kenny admitted having cabled his own views on the questions at issue to his own colleagues in America. Mr. O'Kelly declared that whatever the action of the meeting to-night might be, the question would not be decided at Westminster. The decision ought not to be hurried. It was best to give the country time to think. Mr. Nolan's amendment that the question be postponed to a future meeting at Dublin was, however, rejected by a vote of 29 to 44. Mr. A. O'Connor advised Mr. Parnell to withdraw, as it was impossible for him henceforth to be the leader. Mr. Jordan, of Clare, accused Mr. Parnell of sacrificing the cause of the nation to his insensate pride and culpable ambition. At 6 p. m. the meeting adjourned for one hour. In the course of the meeting Mr. Parnell attacked Mr. Barry and others for sending cablegrams to America and trying to influence the delegates there.

Thomas Sexton to the Defense.

Mr. Sexton replied that he had received a cablegram from Mr. O'Connor requesting him to give his views on the situation and he did not feel that the mere fact of distance entitled him to refuse the request. He therefore cabled Mr. O'Connor, informing him that a majority favored Mr. Parnell's retirement. He further cabled that if the envoys saw any way to support the majority substantial unanimity would be secured.

Col. Nolan said that Mr. Sexton ought to withdraw this expression of opinion from the telegram, for he must now see that unanimity does not follow from the American delegates voting against Mr. Parnell.

Mr. T. Healy—What's all this discussion about? It seems to be another piece of pure obstruction.

Mr. Parnell—That is a most insolent and impertinent observation. (Cheers.)

Mr. Barry attempted to speak, but Mr. Parnell ordered him to sit down.

Mr. W. Redmond—If any names were sent to the delegates in America all the names on each side ought to have been given. I hear that the telegram from the delegates was read by certain Irish members in an English club, and was received with cheers. If Mr. Parnell is to be deposed, in God's name depose him without making it a matter of cheering in an English club.

An English Alliance Necessary.

M. J. Kenny declared that it would be impossible to obtain home rule without an alliance with an English party. He strongly objected to subordinating Irish interests to any particular man. He had little hope for the Irish party if it depended upon the chairman to save them from the chicanery of any English statesman. The Irish looked to their representatives in parliament, not to Mr. Parnell, for salvation. Xavier Brown said they had had little leadership from Mr. Parnell in recent years. After the divorce suit he (Brown) had come to the conclusion that Mr. Parnell's continuance in the leadership would be an intolerable disgrace.

Mr. E. Harrington—Why didn't you say so at the time? This ought to be stopped.

Mr. O'Brien bitterly reproached Mr. Parnell for his course in regard to the Hawarden interview. There were angry retorts from Mr. Parnell's supporters. Mr. Parnell himself denied that he had said that Mr. Gladstone was false. Mr. O'Brien concluded: "I leave you (Parnell) to convince the Irish people of the honesty of your part in that grave matter."

A FRIGHTFUL EXPLOSION.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Dec. 3.—Berwick was the scene of a shocking boiler explosion yesterday. Four men were killed, and a sawmill plant, including the stable and surrounding buildings, was burned. The accident occurred at 4 o'clock, when a great outburst of steam at Adams' sawmill was followed by a terrific report. Crowds of people at once hurried to the scene. Nothing remained of the little hamlet, and its four inhabitants were strewn about the woods dead.

Ira Gruver, one of the employes, was found about fifty feet from where the boiler house stood, horribly mangled. His brother was found in another direction, also mangled badly, while their companions lay dead in the saw pit. Examination of their bodies showed them to have sustained fractures of the skull and internal injuries from which they must have died almost immediately. What caused the explosion is a mystery.

Brazilians Return the Compliment.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The admiral of the Brazilian fleet gave a dinner at the Arlington hotel last night to Secretary Tracy. It was a brilliant affair. Among the other guests were the secretary of state and the other members of the president's cabinet, Senor Valente, the Brazilian minister; Speaker Reed, Gen. Schofield, Admiral Walker, Admiral Gherardi and other officers of the army and navy of the United States. The Marine band was in attendance.

Run Down by a Train.

WEST NEWTON, Pa., Dec. 3.—Edward Taylor and Lewis Rhoades were instantly killed at Sutterville, on the Baltimore and Ohio road, and Stough Booth, father-in-law of Rhoades, was perhaps fatally injured by the West Newton coal train. The men were miners and were returning home from Sutterville, when the freight train ran them down. Taylor was single, 40 years old. Rhoades and Booth each leave a widow and several children.

An Unsuccessful Plea for Eva.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The indictment against Mrs. Eva Hamilton, charging her with conspiracy, was recommended for dismissal by the district attorney. He claims that the charge could not be proven now that Mr. Hamilton was dead. Judge Martine refused to entertain the motion until he had evidence to show that state of facts.

FUTURE OF THE FARMER.

He Will Have More to Say About Legislation.

THE BIG ALLIANCE CONVENTION.

President Polk Outlines the Policy of the Farmers, and Says Congress Must Come Nearer to the People or They Will Get Nearer to Congress.

OCALA, Fla., Dec. 3.—About 1,200 persons attended the meeting of the National Farmers' Alliance last evening. Chairman Rogers introduced President Polk, who delivered his annual address. He said in part: "Profoundly impressed with the magnitude of this great revolution for reform, involving issues momentous and stupendous in their character, as affecting the present and future welfare of the people, the public mind is naturally directed to this meeting with anxious interest, if not solicitude, and you cannot be unmindful of the importance and responsibility that attach to your action."

Degradation of the American Farmer.

He then congratulated the alliance on its achievements, and, reviewing the causes of agricultural depression, declared that it was an anomaly to the student of industrial progress.

"Retrogression in American agriculture," he said, "means national decay, and powerful and promising as is this giant republic, yet its power and glory touch not the degradation of the American farmer." The alarm incident to centralization of the money power and upbuilding of monopolies was then pointed out, and both political parties were condemned for forcing and encouraging this condition. He urged that additional organizers be sent at once to Oregon, Washington, Ohio, New York, New Jersey and other states.

The National Legislature.

Among the recommendations was one that an organization be formed to be known as the National Legislature, composed of the national president and the presidents of all state alliances, their duty being to look after legislative reforms demanded by the alliance, both in state legislation and congress. He depreciated sectionalism, and closed with an eloquent appeal for national harmony.

Both Eyes on Congress.

In relation to the political action of the alliance, he said that while the order is political, it cannot be partisan or sectional in its action. In support of this declaration he pointed to the record of the alliance in the recent popular election, and particularly to the noble and patriotic bearing of the brotherhood in Kansas and South Carolina. In regard to the record of the alliance during the past year, and especially with reference to the legislation demanded by it, Mr. Polk declared that congress had persistently ignored all of their propositions, notably in the case of the measure known as the sub-treasury bill. "Congress," he said, "must come nearer to the people or they will get nearer to congress."

The Alliance's Future Policy.

In outlining the future policy of the alliance President Polk said that it will demand the restoration of silver to all the rights and qualities of legal tender which gold possesses, the issuance of government currency direct to the people, equalization of taxes, prohibition of alien ownership of land, ownership and control of transportation lines by the government, limit of public revenues to the economic administration of the government, graduated taxation of incomes and the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

The conduct of Dr. Macune, editor of The National Economist, is likely to be investigated, and may prove a bombshell on the deliberations of the alliance.

A committee was appointed to negotiate with the Central New York Horse Breeders' association with a view to consolidation.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

A Synopsis of the Principal Recommendations.

PRAISE FOR THE M'KINLEY BILL.

Clear and Explicit Statements in Regard to Silver Coinage and the Agricultural Interests—Very Hopeful View of Industrial Affairs Generally.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Following are the important statements and suggestions in President Harrison's message to the Fifty-first congress at the opening of its second session. After the usual congratulations and calling attention to the reports of the department officials, the president details the results of the Pan-American congress and our diplomatic relations with other countries, especially with the new republic of Brazil. The short war in Central America was hastened to a conclusion by the friendly intervention of the United States. Further he says:

The killing of Gen. Barrundia on board the Pacific mail steamer Acapulco, while anchored in transit in the port of San Jose de Guatemala, demanded careful inquiry. Having failed in a revolutionary attempt to invade Guatemala from Mexican territory, Gen. Barrundia took passage at Acapulco for Panama. The consent of the representatives of the United States was sought to effect his seizure, first at Champerico, where the steamer touched, and afterward at San Jose. The captain of the steamer refused to give up his passenger without a written order from the United States minister; the latter furnished the desired letter, stipulating as the condition of his action that Gen. Barrundia's life should be spared, and that he should be tried only for offenses growing out of his insurrectionary movements.

This letter was produced to the captain of the Acapulco by the military commander at San Jose, as his warrant to take the passenger from the steamer. Gen. Barrundia resisted capture and was killed. It being evident that the minister, Mr. Misner, had exceeded the bounds of his authority in intervening, in compliance with the demands of the Guatemalan authorities, to authorize and effect, in violation of precedent, the seizure on a vessel of the United States of a passenger in transit charged with political offenses, in order that he might be tried for such offenses under what was described as martial law, I was constrained to disavow Mr. Misner's act and recall him from his post.

In pursuance of the concurrent resolution of Oct. 1, 1890, I have proposed to the governments of Mexico and Great Britain to consider a conventional regulation of the passage of Chinese laborers across our southern and northern frontiers.

On the 23d day of August last Sir Edmund Monson, the arbitrator selected under the treaty of Dec. 6, 1888, rendered an award to the effect that no compensation was due from the Danish government to the United States on account of what is commonly known as the Carlos Butterfield claim.

Comment on our amicable relations with France and on the Samoan situation follows, after which comes:

The new treaty of extradition with Great Britain, after due ratification, was proclaimed on the 26th of last March. Its beneficial working is already apparent.

The differences between the two governments touching the fur seal question in the Behring sea is not yet adjusted, as will be seen by the correspondence which will soon be laid before congress. The offer to submit the question to arbitration, as proposed by her majesty's government, has not been accepted for the reason that the form of submission proposed is not thought to be calculated to secure a conclusion satisfactory to either party. It is sincerely hoped that before the opening of another sealing season some arrangement may be effected which will assure to the United States a property right, derived from Russia, which was not disregarded by any nation for more than eighty years preceding the outbreak of the existing trouble.

A wrong was unintentionally done the kingdom of Hawaii by levying duties on commodities included in the reciprocity act with that kingdom, and it is expected that congress will promptly provide for the exception in favor of Hawaii. Our relations with Spain have greatly improved, and a special arrangement for reciprocity with Cuba or Canada is under consideration.

The revenues of the government from all sources for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1890, were $463,-965,090.55, and the total expenditures for the same period were $365,618,584.89. The postal receipts have not heretofore been included in the statement of these aggregates, and for the purpose of comparison the sum of $62,022,097.92 should be deducted from both sides of the account. The surplus for the year, including the amount applied to the sinking fund, was $105,344,490.08. The receipts for 1890 were $16,080,923.79, and the expenditures $18,739,871 in excess of those of 1889. The customs receipts increased $5,826,842.89, and the receipts from internal revenue $11,795,191.89, while on the side of expenditures that for pensions was $19,313,073.06 in excess of the preceding year.

The treasury statement for the current fiscal year, partly actual and partly estimated, is as follows: Receipts from all sources, $400,000,000; total expenditures, $354,000,000, leaving a surplus of $46,000,000—not taking the postal receipts into the account on either side. The loss of revenue from customs for the last quarter is estimated at $25,000,000, but from this is deducted a gain of about $16,000,000, realized during the first four months of the year.

For the year 1892 the total estimated receipts are $373,000,000, and the estimated expenditures $287,802,300.42, leaving an estimated surplus of $18,147,760.58, which, with a cash balance of $20,000,000 at the beginning of the year, will give $67,147,760.58 as the sum available for the redemption of outstanding bonds or other uses. The estimates of receipts and expenditures for the Postoffice department, being equal, are not included in this statement on either side.

The act "directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes thereon," approved July 14, 1890, has been administered by the secretary of the treasury with an earnest purpose to get into circulation at the earliest possible dates the full monthly amounts of treasury notes contemplated by its provisions and at the same time to give to the market for silver bullion such support as the law contemplates. The recent depreciation in the price of silver has been observed with regret. The rapid rise in price which anticipated and followed the passage of the act was influenced in some degree by speculation, and the recent reaction is in part the result of the same cause and in part of the recent monetary disturbances. Some months of further trial will be necessary to determine the permanent effect of the recent legislation upon silver values, but it is gratifying to know that the increased circulation secured by the act has exerted and will continue to exert a most beneficial influence upon business and upon general values.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1890.

Senators Cameron and Quay recently had an interview at Washington, and they unanimously agree that the Legislature is sure to re-elect the former. Does Quay want to spoil his colleagues chances?

THE COUNTY ELECTION.

The matter of the general election of 1890, locally considered, may properly be disposed of and dismissed for history, when the results are compared with those of former years, and the progress of opinion and electoral action in the county thus indicated, shall be set forth.

Before the erection of Montour, Columbia County at a full election had attained to a democratic majority of 1600, slightly exceeding that majority at the gubernatorial and presidential elections of 1844. When Montour was erected she carried off 500 of that majority, leaving the majority in this county standing at about 1100. This was a large majority for a small county and justified the political soubriquet applied to us, of "The Star of the North."

But the majority has since grown in proportion to the vote polled, and in absolute magnitude, to the magnificent figures which the recent election returns present. That growth continued even during the war, as was illustrated by the fact that the soldier vote of 1864, from this county, (unlike that of almost every other county in the State,)exhibited a democratic preponderance. But prior to the present year the highest majority given at a test election, was given to Hancock in 1880, being over 2300. The present year the democratic majorities for Lieut. Governor and for Secretary of Internal affairs Barclay, reached nearly 2700, while that for Pattison boomed up to 2806, being an increase approaching 500 over any former example.

Upon the proportionate vote the result is equally remarkable. Omitting fractions, the Delamater vote was 2000 and the Pattison vote 4800– the democratic vote being two to one, and 800 to spare.

Of the 67 counties of the State, Columbia ranks fourth in its democratic majority, being exceeded only by the great counties of Berks, Northampton and York; excluding an exceptional vote reported for the present year,—— for Schuylkill and Lehigh,— and in its proportionate vote, as between parties, it is exceeded only by one or two of its sister counties.

During the period of time referred to there has been no considerable increase of voters from abroad, except in the Centralia district and one or two other points in the county. The growth and increase of political power for the democracy, has been, therefore, upon native elements of population by conversions from the opposite party and by young men coming of age, and it is a remarkable fact that the county has generally given her best majorities in the worst of years when disaster fell upon the party in the state and throughout the country.

Our German and Scotch-Irish population have remained firm in political conviction and steadfast in the worst of times.

We have fortunately escaped political debauchment with consequent weakness, resulting from large money expenditures upon elections. State committees have rarely contributed to our local expense, and as a rule, candidates have not been profuse in outlay to secure success. It may be added, that while the party has had leaders—men to think, write and speak for it—it has not been subjected to the domination of bosses, nominations for office have commonly been made by the free, uncontrolled action of the people, and have not been dictated to them or manipulated for them. Of course difficulties have arisen, sometimes from over-zeal of candidates, or from selfish ambition, but upon the whole fair play has been the rule and not the exception in party action. Nor is it to be overlooked that just and reasonable rules for the making of nominations to office, have prevailed amongst us. By a special county convention called for the purpose about 20 years ago, a code of rules for nominations was adopted, which subsequently has been, from time to time amended, and now constitutes, perhaps the best nominating system in force in the state. It may not be perfect, but it has doubtless contributed largely to party harmony and success.

Upon the whole therefore, there was good cause for the democracy celebrating the splendid victory which they achieved in our county. Of thirty election districts in the County twenty nine return democratic majorities, leaving West Berwick standing solitary and alone on the opposite side! And when in addition to our satisfaction over the local result, we turn to the result in our state and elsewhere, our feelings rise to hopefulness and confidence in the future of our great party and of our beloved country, which that party is so well fitted to guide in the ways of prosperity and peace.

Lumber Saved From the Flood.

EIGHTY FIVE PER CENT. OF ALL THE LOGS SWEPT AWAY WAS CAUGHT.

The Lumberman's Exchange have compiled statistics relative to the logs swept away by the great flood of June 1, 1889, which show a remarkable state of facts. The logs that went astray on that memorable day aggregated something over 200,000,000 feet, a greater portion of which was carried into Chesapeak Bay. The committee of the exchange, to which was entrusted the great work of collecting this timber, have succeeded in saving 180,000,000 feet, thus reducing the actual loss to the owners of not more than fifteen per cent. Of these logs 67,000,000 floated into the bay, where they were gathered up and sawed; 60,000,000 feet were gathered upon the banks of the river between Loyalsock and Havre de Grace, and the remainder between Williamsport and Loyalsock.

This record exceeds anything of the kind ever known in the history of Pennsylvania lumbering operators. The gentlemen on whom devolved the greater portion of the work were J. Henry Cochrane and Fletcher Coleman.

B. K. JAMISON & CO. FAIL.

GENERAL ASSIGNMENT TO CREDITORS.

B. K. Jamison & Co., bankers, of Fifth and Chesnut streets, Philadelphia closed their doors last Friday, being unable to meet their obligations. The firm consists of B. K. Jamison, J. H. Kershaw, P. J. Kelley, W. M. Stewart and A. J. Plumer. Col. Jamison is well known all over the state. He has driven all over the country in his famous coach, the "Rambler." Several times he has visited Bloomsburg. Some of the members of this firm were largely interested in the Bloomsburg & Sullivan R. R. Company, and owned a large tract of timber lands on the North Mountain. The failure will in no way affect the Railroad Company.

An assignment has been made of all their property to Samuel G. Thompson of Philadelphia.

The failure was owing to the panicky feeling of the past month, which caused a general withdrawal of funds by customers and correspondents, which in the present stringent condition of the money market the bank was unable to stand. This firm has enjoyed a long honorable and hitherto successful business career, and nothing of a dishonest character is ascribed to the failure. Col. Jamison thinks that with fair treatment by their creditors they may be able to resume business.

They Are Liable.

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken. They were in my case. It cost me $200,00. because they said I had Heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was Liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie Poor, Rockport, Mass. 11.28 2-t.

Catarrh

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed. Hood's Sarsaparilla also builds up the whole system, and makes you feel renewed in health and strength.

N. B. If you decide to try Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effect to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1039 Eighth Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

What the Election Meant.

SENATOR CARLISLE THINKS THE PEOPLE UNDERSTOOD THE ISSUE.

The force and significance of this popular rebuke cannot be weakened by the claims set up since the election that the tariff act has been misrepresented and its injurios effect upon the people exaggrated by the arguments of its opponents and by the action of merchants and others in taking immediate advantage of the prospective increase in prices. The purpose of the law, even if it had not been avowed by its authors and supporters, is perfectly plain, and its effect upon the cost of living and upon the markets in which our principal surplus products are sold can be foreseen with almost absolute certainty. The act was condemned by the people because they fully understood it, and not because they were deceived in regard to it. The great mass of producers in this country are in no way benefited by a tariff, and they do not believe they ought to be taxed merely for the purpose of starting some new private enterprise, or for the purpose of increasing the profits of old ones, nor do they think it wise or just to cut their products off from the great markets of the world in order to give somebody else exclusive control of their markets at home. But the tariff schedules were only parts of the scheme to tax the whole people for the benefit of a few. Public money, raised by taxation, is to be gratuitously distributed in the form of bounties and subsidies to the manufacturers of domestic sugar and to individuals and corporations owning steamships engaged in foreign trade, while the people who are engaged in other pursuits, equally useful and meritorious, are to struggle on as best they can, without aid of any kind from the government. To say nothing of the injustice of the proceeding, to impose taxes for the purpose of restricting foreign trade, and at the same time to impose taxes for the purpose of paying subsidies to encourage foreign trade, involves such a palpable inconsistency that the popular mind at once refuses to accept it as evidence of enlightened or honest statesmanship.—North American Review.

Deafness Can't Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound for imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We wil give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The New York WORLD never crows. For what it has done it asks no favor and no consideration. That is ancient history—to be forgotten. It looks only to the future—to the work to be done. Our hopes and fears, our joys and sorrows are all before us—not one behind.

In THE WORLD'S work for 1891 every American citizen is vitally interested, and not one—no matter what his politics may be—can afford to be without its weekly edition, which has not an equal on earth as a newspaper. Nine men out of every ten know this to be true. Every tenth man should send to-day for a specimen copy, that the knowledge may be universal.

Subscribe at once. Three months costs only 25 cents, and by every week's delay you miss something worth more than the subscription price for the year—which is only one dollar. Address THE WORLD, New York.

MARIA KITCHEN,
12-5-4t. Adm'x., Millville, Pa.

"Hello! Tom. Glad to see you, old fellow! It's almost ten years since we were married. Sit down; let's have an experience meeting. How's the wife?"

"Oh! she's so-so, same as usual,—always wanting something I can't afford."

"Well, we all want something more than we've got. Don't you?"

"Yes; but I guess 'want will be my master.' I started to keep down expenses; and now Lil says I'm 'mean,' and she's tired of saving and never having anything to show for it. I saw your wife down street, and she looked as happy as a queen!"

"I think she is; and we are economical, too,—have to be. My wife can make a little go further than anyone I ever knew, yet she's always surprising me with some dainty contrivance that adds to the comfort and beauty of our little home, and she's always 'merry as a lark.' When I ask how she manages it, she always laughs and says: 'Oh! that's my secret!' But I think I've discovered her 'secret.' When we married, we both knew we should have to be very careful, but she made one condition: she would have her Magazine. And she was right! I wouldn't do without it myself for double the subscription price. We read it together, from the title-page to the last word: the stories keep our hearts young; the synopsis of important events and scientific matters keeps me posted so that I can talk understandingly of what is going on; my wife is always trying some new idea from the household department; she makes all her dresses and those for the children, and she gets all her patterns for nothing, with the Magazine; and we saved doctor bills when he was so sick with the croup, by doing just as directed in the Sanitarian Department. But I can't tell you half!"

"What wonderful Magazine is it?"

"Demorest's Family Magazine, and—"

"What! Why that's what Lil wanted so bad, and I told her it was an extravagance."

"Well, my friend, that's where you made a grand mistake, and one you'd better rectify as soon as you can. I'll take your 'sub' right here, on my wife's account; she's bound to have a china tea-set in time for our tin wedding next month. My gold watch was the premium I got for getting up a club. Here's a copy, with the new Premium List for clubs,—the biggest thing out! If you don't see in it what you want, you've only to write to the publisher and tell him what you want, whether it is a tack-hammer or a new carriage, and he will make special terms for you, either for a club, or for part cash. Better subscribe right off and surprise Mrs. Tom. Only $2.00 a year—will save fifty times that in six months. Or send 10 cents direct to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a specimen copy containing the Premium List."

We are compelled again to call the attention of delinquent subscribers to the fact that our terms of subscription are $1 00 a year, payable in advance. If not paid at the beginning of the year it is expected to be paid certainly before the expiration of the year. The margin of profit is so small at that price that we cannot afford to wait for our pay after it is earned, much less to lose it altogether. We have a few who owe us for five years or more, and to these we say that if their accounts are not paid by January 1st, 1891, they will be sued. This is forced upon us, for we have sent out dun after dun, paying postage each time, and no attention is paid to it. No further notice will be given to this class by us.

We have a number who owe for two or three years, and to these we say that we desire a settlement, because they are not complying with our terms, and because we have earned the money and want it.

Those who owe for the past year will confer a favor upon us by an early payment.

Some expensive improvements will soon be made in the COLUMBIAN which are intended for the benefit of our readers, and therefore they ought be more willing to settle their accounts, so that we can make these improvements.

It is quite discouraging to look over our books and find thousands of dollars standing out, much of it among men who are better able to pay than we are to wait. It is our earnest wish that we may not again be compelled to allude to this matter, but that those who owe on subscription will settle before the new year begins, and start in with a year's subscription in advance.

There was another light fall of snow Monday, making the third snow of the season. The snows were hardly deep enough to track any kind of animal. But since we have such mild winters we call anything that seems white a snow storm. A few years ago a snow storm was not considered anything unless the snow was over six inches deep.

Rev. J. O. Wilson, D. D.

"The lecture, delivered by J. O. Wilson was as fine a specimen of word painting as a Lincoln audience has been privileged to hear. It was indeed a gem. At one time the speaker sent a ripple of laughter gleaming over the features of his auditors; at another he electrified them with his eloquence, and throughout beautiful shells of valuable knowledge seemed to strew the sea-shore of his eloquence. The lecture was instructive, entertaining and enobling. His description of the beauty and sublimity of California scenery was unique in its language and ideas, and no painter's brush could for the moment have impressed the mind so vividly with the grandeur of his theme. It was indeed an oratorical treat."—The Times, (Lincoln, Ills.)

There will be a service of song at the Reformed church next Sunday evening to which all are cordially invited.

There is a prospect that the Wilkesbarre & Western R. R will get into Orangeville soon. A route has been surveyed by Briarcreek Valley to Berwick.

The fence has been moved out on the line of Rock street, and new gates have been put up. The new Sexton's lodge and waiting-room building is completed and ready for occupancy. When all the changes contemplated have been made, Rosemont will be much improved.

The Centralia homicide case brought a large number of people up to court from that borough, as witnesses. On Tuesday morning District attorney Chrisman moved for a continuance of the case as he was not prepared with the necessary evidence, and so the case went over. The case of J. B. Blue, was also continued and the defendant was admitted to bail. It is generally understood that Blue has settled with the United States Express Company, and that he will never be tried. He was their agent at Orangeville, and was charged with embezzlement. All other cases on the list having been disposed of, the jurors were discharged on Wednesday noon.

Rev. J. O. Wilson, D. D., who is to lecture in the Opera House this Friday evening, Dec. 5th, on "Switzerland in Autumn" will delight all who may attend and will describe people, places and scenery through which he passes in such a realistic manner that his audience is fairly carried away by his descriptions. His manner is pleasing, and as an orator he is spoken of as being in the front rank. He has a rare command of language, which coupled with great powers of observation, makes him one of the most entertaining of lecturers. The management of the Star Course bespeak for him a good audience and promise that all who hear him will be fully satisfied.

At the last meeting of the School Board a resolution was passed to purchase a complete set of the Encyclopedia Brittanica for use in the public library. Several individuals have agreed to furnish other valuable works and the students expect soon to give an entertainment, the proceeds of which will be used in the purchase of books. If any person reading this notice desires to add a volume or more to this library for public use, let it be sent in to any member of the school board, to the principal of the school or any of the teachers. We need a good library in our high school and now that the effort has been begun let all lend a helping hand and fill the shelves.

There will be an elecutionary and musical entertainment at the Orangeville Music Hall, Saturday evening December 6th. Miss Minnie Bittenbender, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, the elecutionist, gave some readings at Orangeville last Thursday evening which were received with much favor. It was then arranged to have her again appear with her choice readings and combine musical talent from Orangeville and Bloomsburg and extend an invitation not only to the people of Orangeville, but all sections of the country to come and have an evening's enjoyment at Orangeville. Price of admission will be 25 cents; reserved seat tickets 35 cents; children 15 cents. The superintendent of the B. & S. will run a special train from Bloomsburg if thirty or more people will attend.

The Williamsport Republican says: "When the County Commissioners of the State were in Williamsport a few days ago they adopted resolutions favoring the abolition of the office of Jury Commissioner, and providing for the selection of juries by County Commissioners and Judges of the court. This work of the Commissioners seems to meet with general approval. The opinion seems to be that since the change in the election of County Commissioners, Jury Commissioners are of no more use than a fifth wheel would be to a farmer's wagon. The men usually elected as Jury Commissioners have little or no acquaintance with the people throughout the county, while the County Commissioners acquire a large acquaintance by associating in business with constables, assessors, collectors and jurors, and are therefore doubly qualified for the duty.

Go to Kemp the artist for finest and most artistic work. 2t.

J. A. J. Cummings died at his residence on Main street on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, after a long illness. He was born in Chillisquaque township, Northumberland county, and passed his life there, and in Sunbury, Montandon and Bloomsburg. From 1861 to 1867 he was Register and Recorder of Northumberland Co. His age was 59 years. His widow and one son W. B. Cummings, of the firm of Cummings & Verdy, survive him. The funeral took place at the house on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. S. W. Sears officiating. Interment in Rosemont.

The fountain of perpetual youth was one of the dreams of antiquity. It has been well-nigh realized in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood, gives vitality to all the bodily functions, and thus restores to age much of the vigor and freshness of youth.

On Thanksgiving day there assembled at the residence of J. Wilson Miller at Lime Ridge 35 members of the Freas family. The occasion being a surprise to Mrs. Miller who is one of the 13 children of Andrew and Lydia Freas now deceased. After they over ran the premises, taking the house by storm they presented Mrs. Miller with a black Henrietta Dress and then proceeded to unpack sundry baskets, which contained among other things a roasted turkey, roasted chickens, cakes, pies, fruit, nuts and candy. The manner in which this hungry hoard of 9 brothers and sisters with their families proceeded to put themselves outside of that seasonable dinner would have made the traditional 'hungry man from Harlan' turn green with envy. After the victuals had been punished to the satisfaction of all present their hilarity knew no bounds. Dr. H. L. Freas of Berwick, nearly 61 years old, perpetrated a schottische, as he explained after we had all taken it for a very fine imitation of the 'Pine Ridge Ghost Dance.' This indiscretion on the part of the oldest of the family opened the way for the baby of the (13), now a kid of 32 hard winters and about the same number of summers, to dance the Racquet, which he did in a most charming manner mid a scene of dissolving legs and arms. Truly this was a pleasant time but the plum pudding was very rich and that evening in our dreams that gobbler gobbled from the head board of our bed, and we saw the large fat Freas woman take the slim Freas man by the ear and after mopping up the floor with him she proceeded to sit on him until he was as thin as some of the stories told by ye older members of the family about ye olden times. Then we awoke.

Entertainment and Orange Supper.

A chief characteristic of the Cambra people is high social attainments. They gave a public entertainment in the Christian village chapel last Saturday night that did credit to themselves and community. Admission fee 10 cents, proceeds to be devoted to the interest of the Sunday school.

The exercises consisted of instrumental music, 'Flag drill' and exhibition of the 'Peak Sisters.' The accomplishments of Stanley McHenry in displaying instrumental music are rarely, if ever surpassed. All the exercises were directed by his masterly hand while presiding at the organ. The movements of the Flag Drill, under the captainship of Miss Jennie Vahn, public school teacher of that place, were admirable and elicited frequent applause from the large and delighted audience. Ten ladies constituted the drill and were supplied with flags—emblems representing the different nationalities including our own, singing patriotic songs applicable to each of the nations represented. Lastly, three little girls marched upon the platform, each carrying our national emblem, singing a favorite national air, when all joined in the song of "The Red, White and Blue', waving their flags. The scene was impressing and typified 'peace on earth, good will to men,' and the relation of mankind, that though we are of different nationalities, yet are we brethren, tied in the bond of common sympathy, bound to one destiny—the civilization and christianization of the world.

After these exercises the Peak Sisters, nine in number, were introduced, who entered through a window near the organ. They represented as coming from the peaks of Alaska and their advent upon the stage was comical, their costume peculiar, and their head dress terminated in a peak and was fully a yard long. Whenever they bowed the peak of head dress touched the floor. The preliminary remarks of the leader of the sisters, explaining the object of their presence, the accomplishments and qualifications of her sisters, were well rendered. Their exhibition was highly entertaining and applauded at every turn. Bruce and George Cary deserve a great deal of credit for the success of the entertainment. To the question, "How did you like it?" twenty times asked in our hearing after the entertainment, the universal response was, "It was just boss." After the entertainment supper was served at the hotel.

A Spring Medicine.

The druggists claim that people eat daily for the new cure for constipation and sick-headache, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky Mountains. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells at 50 cents a package and is called Lane's Family Medicine.

East Benton.

Samuel Weaver of Fishingcreek lost his barn and shed, including hay, fouder, straw, corn and crops, horse, buggy and sleigh, and other contents, by fire last Thursday night about half past nine o'clock. But for the timely arrival of neighbors the house with its occupants would also have been consumed, the roof being already on fire when the inmates were awakened from their slumbers and saved. The origin of the fire is a mystery, and it is not thought to be the work of an incendiary, as Mr. Weaver is not known to have an enemy. The light insurance of $400 will but poorly compensate Mr. Weaver whose loss exceeds $1000.

Peter Ipher of Fairmount died Nov. 27, 1890, and was buried at the Cambra M. E. church Sunday following, aged about 83 years.

He was noted for his industrious habits, integrity and honesty. He was the father of William Ipher of Benton township, also of Mrs. William Ash and Mrs. Christian Ash. A widow, four sons and five daughters survive the deceased father.

FORTIFY THE SYSTEM WITH Brown's Sarsaparilla

People having rheumatic, or consumptive tendencies, should heed the advice herein given. Their painful and dangerous diseases arise wholly from impure blood, causing a weakening of the system; are fed, and held in the system by impure blood, and cannot be driven out until the blood shall have been cleared. When this shall have been effected nature will do the rest, and the days and nights of torture will be unknown.

Alike are the young, middle aged and older people swept from the face of the earth by thousands each year by these diseases, and there has never been known so powerful a preventive to such devastations, as is found in that great remedial agent,

The Institute Entertainments.

Following are some of the notices that have been given to those who will appear before the Teachers' Institute at the evening entertainments.

THE TROY VOCAL SOCIETY'S ANNUAL CONCERT.

When four young ladies in white, two in blue bodices and two in brown, tripped upon the stage and put their heads together, they made such a modest and pleasing group that the enthusiasm of their subsequent reception was already half assured. They were the Meigs Sister's Concert Company. A very sweet and pure soprano, with a second soprano and two altos that had masculine vigor without losing feminine beauty, made a combination so artistically blended that every appearance of the Meigs Sisters' Concert Company meant an unyielding encore. The quartette sang such choice bits as a Rheinberger reverie, a Brahms barcarolle, "Fidelen," McFarren's "Ye Spotted Snakes," with the 'Ring and Rose,' a folk-song charmingly enunciated; 'Sounds of the Night' (written for the singers) and as closing numbers Mendelssohn's 'Resting Place' and 'The Lady Bird,' by Cowen. The sweet voiced four could hardly have had a heartier reception than last night's audience gave them.

FROM THE CLEVELAND (O.) Leader

One of the largest and finest audiences that ever welcomed a public speaker in this city assembled at the Tabernacle last evening to enjoy the lecture of Mrs. Mary A. Livermore on "The Boy of To-Day." Every seat in the building was occupied, and every occupant seemed pleased with the earnest and eloquent discourse of the evening.

FROM THE 'OLD WAR GOVERNOR.'

BELLEFONTE, PA., October 10, 1887.

Having the satisfaction of intimate and agreeable social relations with Chas. T. Steck, I am glad to speak of him as a highly cultured and accomplished gentleman. I have heard him lecture, and was charmed with his musical voice, grace of manner and splendid elocution. His lecture on "The Hero, Recognized and Unrecognized," is one of the most instructive, original, clear in statement, and logical in conclusions, that I have ever heard. I wish every American had opportunity to hear it. Any lecture course where it has not yet been heard should be considered incomplete without it.

Truly, A. G. CURTIN.

If Your House is on Fire.

You put water on the burning timbers, not on the smoke. And if you have catarrh you should attack the disease in the blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Undisputed Merit.

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care and skill, attained by a twenty years' practical experience are contributed towards this end, and no pharmaceutical preparation can be dispensed with a greater accuracy, precision and exactness. Every article used is absolutely pure. A number of chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that an exact power and effect in combination with its co-ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the materials used or the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of business. As a consequence the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence, always pure, wholesome and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its powers and produce the same and highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time. The Government Chemists after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity and wholesomeness, and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

Meeting of School Board.

There was a meeting of the school board of the Bloomsburg School District last Friday evening with all the members present. The teachers were present and drew their orders for the month of November. Bills were presented and secretary directed to draw orders in payment of the same. A resolution was adopted offering the use of the High School building to the County Superintendent during Institute week, and that schools be closed the week following Institute, or Christmas week. Extra inducements having been offered for the purchase of the Encyclopedia Brittanica, a resolution was adopted to purchase a set for the public library. The question of a uniform course of study to conform to that of the Normal school was discussed and the subject referred to the committee on text books, who are instructed to confer with the principal of the Normal School and arrange a course of study by which students in the public schools may enter the Normal and graduate in one year.

Board adjourned to meet Friday evening January 16th.

Squire Moore's last Thanksgiving was one of the most happy of his life. On that day all his children and many friends from Orangeville, Bloomsburg, Jerseytown, Montandon and other places, gathered to witness the marriage of his oldest daughter, Mary J. Moore to J. C. A Big Indoor Meeting.

The midwinter meeting of the Staten Island Athletic Club, which will be held in Madison Square Garden, New York, on December 11th, 12th and 13th, will be the greatest of its kind ever held in this country. The programme provides for running matches, boxing, wrestling, fencing, lawn tennis, lacrosse and foot ball. The men competing will be the best in their respective classes. The prizes and medals are more numerous and more beautiful than have ever been offered at a similar event.

The order for these trophies, which includes 20 sets of medals and 50 gold watches was given to a Philadelphia firm, Bailey, Banks & Biddle, who have just completed the work, and state that it is probably the most important order of its kind ever filled by a Philadelphia house. The medals are of 24 karat virgin gold, coin silver and bronze. They contain on the obverse side the figure of a sea horse, the insignia of the club, and around it the inscription: "Staten Island Athletic Club, 1877-1890." A finely modled laurel wreath and the words "Madison Square Garden, New York, December 11th, 12th, 13th, 1890," occupies the reverse. A bar of metal corresponding with that of the medal, from which is suspended a yellow and black ribbon, the club's colors, holds the disc. The watches have the American Waltham movement and hunting cases. The latter have the club emblem engraved upon their surface.

Pensions! Veterans!!

The Disability Pension Bill.

Act of June 27, 1890, grants pensions to all ex-soldiers and sailors who served 90 days or more in the Army or Navy during the rebellion, and were honorably discharged, and who are now suffering from any permanent, mental or physical disability contracted since the war or during the war whether from disease, injuries or effects of old age, at the rate of from $6 to $12 per month, according to the degree of his disability for the performance of labor requiring the exertion of physical strength; provided the disability is not due to vicious habits. This pension is not restricted to the veterans who have to make their living by hard labor, but is equally due to professional men or clerks, provided they have an existing disability which would prevent the continuous exercise of the physical strength of an able-bodied man.

Those who have applied under the general laws and who are unable to prove up the pending claim can apply for and secure this pension and then continue the prosecution of the former claim and secure their arrears.

If you are now drawing a small pension, say $2 or $4 per month, you can take this pension instead, and if you have an application on file for increase or additional pension for new disabilities you can continue the prosecution of such claims while drawing the new pension, or you can file an original claim for a disability contracted in the service while drawing pension under this new act.

Widows, children, and dependent mothers and fathers are entitled under this act and can suspend the prosecution of any pending claim, and take this pension, and afterwards complete the prior claim and get arrears.

Having been duly appointed an Agent according to the rules and regulations of the Department of the Interior in the prosecution of such claims and having had success in a number of cases I am always prepared to give information and assist claimants, and will assure them success if they are able to establish the facts as required by law.

Those interested should call soon and claim their reward.

State Farmers' Alliance.

The State Farmers' Alliance adjourned on the 27th after electing the following officers for the ensuing year:—

President, Henry C. Snavely of Lebanon County; vice-president Curtis S. Clark, of Crawford County; lecturer, J. S. Potts, of Indiana County; secretary, Henry C. Demming, of Dauphin County; treasurer, Valentine Hay, of Somerset County; business agent, E. H. Werner, of Somerset County. Executive board, Henry Brobst, of Berks County; E. D. Roche, of Potter County; and William Wible, of Adams County; Judiciary board, H. B. Schall, of Armstrong County; W. P. Bricker, of Lycoming County, and Theodore McAllister, of Adams County. Delegates to the National Farmers' Alliance, Henry C. Demming of Dauphin County, and A. W. Knupper, of Somerset County. Alternates, J. S. Potts, of Indiana County, and H. Young, of York County. Chaplain, S. B. Kent, of Greene County; steward, J. K. Brubaker, of Lebanon County; doorkeeper, Robinson Rood, of Potter County; assistant doorkeeper, D. M. Omwake, of Franklin County, and sergeant-at-arms, John Dieffenbach, of Berks County.

A resolution passed unanimously to have a Summer encampment, and a committee was appointed with full powers on the subject. The committee are H. C. Demming, chairman, J. B. Moore, and William Wible. The banner county in the State in the number of local alliances, is Greene, with fifty-one, and an average membership in each alliance of over fifty.

The report of the Committee on Resolutions interesting because of its declaration of the princi les of the alliance, is as follows:—

The undersigned committee, appointed by the Pennsylvania State Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the Alliance, have unanimously agreed upon the following, and report the same for adoption:—

WHEREAS, There is a great depression in the agricultural interests of the country, and a great stringency exists in money matters; and

WHEREAS The tax laws of this State are unjust, inequitable, and oppressive made in the interest of favored classes, and to the injury of the messes of the people; therefore, be it

(1) Resolved, That the revenue or tax laws of the State should be revised by the next Legislature so that every species of property, real, personal, and mixed, lands, bonds, stocks, monies, etc., be made to bear its due proportion of the public burdens, in order to relieve the owners of real estate from the unjust taxation to which they are now subjected.

(2) Resolved, That the volume of the currency is wholly inadequate for the business interests of the country, and by reason thereof the value of all kinds of property has been depreciated and financial distress has been brought upon the country; and for relief in this direction we favor the free coinage of silver, and deprecate any discrimination in favor of one kind of money at the expense of another.

(3) Resolved, That we are opposed to all kinds of trusts and combines whereby the necessaries of life,—fuel, clothing, and all articles which enter into daily use and consumption,—are abnormally enhanced in price, to the great injury of the masses.

(4) Resolved, That we are opposed to the policy of allowing foreigners to own and hold large bodies of land in this country for speculative purposes; for it tends to create a monopoly if the soil similar to that existing in certain European countries where the executive landlord system prevails.

(5) Resolved That free and honest election imperatively demand a secret ballot; and we most earnestly request the Legislature at once to call a State Convention for the purpose of making the necessary provision for securing a secret ballot for the voters of this State at the earliest possible time.

(6) Resolved, That notwithstanding nearly all classes of persons, except the farming and industrial classes have had special legislation beneficial to themselves; yet as we regard class legislation wholly wrong and inequitable, we shall not demand it for ourselves, but we shall demand from henceforth equal and exact justice to all.

(7) Resolved That we hold that the Constitution of the United States shall be amended, requiring the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people, in order that a higher order of talient may be secured in that body, and men prevented from securing the position by means of their wealth alone, and filling the Senate with millionaires regardless of the proper qualification.

(8) Resolved, That we are in hearty sympathy with all the industrial classes of our land, and trust that by all means they may co-operate to bring about the much needed reforms in legislation and otherwise, and secure the right that justly belong to them.

Respectfully submitted,
VALENTINE HAY (Somerset),
E. D. ROCHE (Potter),
A. W. KNEPPER (Armstrong),
D. M. OMWAKE (Franklin),
Committee.

THE GERMAN EMPRESS.

Since she came to the throne the Empress Augusta Victoria continues to be the sensible and modest woman that she was when only a Princess. While her husband runs about with feverish activity, visiting present and possible allies, she is content to remain at home, and perform the very limited duties that the constitution has marked out for the wives of German sovereigns. Owing to the many bereavements in the royal family, the court at Berlin has not been very gay since William II. began to reign. In fact, in the days of his grandfather it was not renowned for its liveliness. The present Emperor continues the economical traditions of the Hohenzollern family, and court receptions are not much more frequent than state balls were at Paris under M. Jules Grevy. Having scarcely any other public duties to perform than to appear at the head of her regiment of cuirassiers during the rare moments when the Emperor is at home, the Empress devotes most of her time to her household cares, and perhaps continues to put up her own preserves, as she did when she was the Princess William. The Emperor is not at all displeased at this kind of talent, as the following incident will show. Soon after William II. was crowned, a committee of Berlin ladies, having resolved to offer a gift to the new Empress, decided, without a very long deliberation, that the souvenir should consist of a white silk apron trimmed with costly laces, and having the names of the five little Princes embroidered in garlands. In receiving this present, the Empress told the donors that she was happy to accept such a gift, for the apron had always been the symbol of a good German housewife. "Besides," she added, "my husband will be satisfied with your offering, for he desires that I should always wear an apron in the house!"

The Empress Augusta Victoria is now in her thirty-first year, and is three months older and somewhat taller than the Emperor; but her fair and fresh complexion makes her look younger than her age. An oval face, soft blue eyes, beautiful teeth, and an abundance of blonde hair give her a decidedly agreeable if not positively pretty physiognomy, while she passes for having smaller feet than nature has generously bestowed upon the sisters of her race. The Empress has already given five sons to her husband; but her motherly care is not long bestowed on each one, for soon as possible their father takes them away from the nurse, and sends them to the drill-master in Thuringia, where they are uniformed, booted, spurred, and taught to train a sabre in true German fashion. Perhaps the Empress would like to have a daughter among this little flock, but William II. is satisfied with sons. Speaking one day to his elder sister, the Princess of Saxe-Meiningen, he said: "It is better to have only boys, because when there is a daughter, that immediately causes more embarassment, and entails greater expense. First of all, there must be a governess, one or more maids of honor, and a lot of complicated finery. On the contrary, when there are only boys, they can all be dressed in the same fashion—in uniform. A piece of cloth will serve for all of them. My boys are all dressed as artillerymen, even the smallest one, who is already a corporal. And it is in this costume that they play all day long! Only, the poor little Princes cannot play as other children do; their sole recreation is to amuse themselves with military theory and exercise, so as to become warriors, and win laurels, as their ancestors have done, and as their father hopes to do. —Theodore Child, in Harper's Bazar.

UNCANNY MANIFESTATIONS IN A SCRANTON HOUSE.

Pine Brook, a northern suburb of Scranton, is in a state of excitement over what is regarded as ghostly maifestations. For the past six weeks the families of Martin Nealon and Mrs. Catharine Walsh have been unable to sleep on account of strange noises which are heard every night about twelve o'clock in the front room of the Walsh apartments.

The manifestations consist of rappings, heavy footsteps, slamming doors and other mysterious sounds. The most careful investigation failed to ascertain the cause of the occurrence and the people in that locality attribute it to some supernatural agency.

Last Wednesday night, both families, with several of the neighbors, gathered in the kitchen determined to unearth the mystery. About midnight a shuffling of feet was heard in the front room accompanied by a spasmodic rapping as if on a pannel of the door. The men rushed into the room, but they found nothing to which the strange noises could be attributed. A watch was kept on the outside of the house, but no one was seen to enter or go out. The windows and doors, which had been nailed, were found intact and the vigilant watchers were only more puzzled than ever.

When they were about to leave the room one of the men chanced to look out of the window and to his horror saw an apparition which almost transfixed him to the spot. Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Nealon also witnessed it and almost fainted at the sight. Outlined in the darkness, just outside the window, was the bust of a youth with golden hair, fair features and large burning eyes. It disappeared as suddenly as it came leaving no trace of its presence.

The Walsh family moved out of the house Thursday, and the Nealson family are also preparing to leave.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—M Pelletan has presented to the Budget Committee a report on the financial situation of France. This shows that the estimated debt of the country is 30,300,815,594 francs of nominal capital, and 22, 824,-045,690 francs of actual capital, the nominal rate of interest being 3.48 per cent., and the actual rate 4.62 per cent "This," continues the report, "is the largest public debt in the world, but French credit is sufficiently solid to allow of French stock being reckoned as 3 per cents."

A Woman's Christmas Feast.

A more perfect Christmas magazine for women could not have been made than is the December Ladies' Home Journal. Truly, here is Christmas in story, song, and sketch. Sixty five authors and artists have helped to make this number—authors famous and gifted like Harriet Beecher Stowe, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Margaret Deland, Sarah Orne Jewett, Mary Mapes Dodge, Dr. Talmage, Ida Lewis, Rob J. Burdette, Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, Mary J. Holmes, Kate Upson Clark, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Rose Terry Cooke, Foster Coats, Elizabeth B Custer, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Mrs. Lyman Abbott, Margaret Bottome and Eben E. Rexford, each of whom make a distinct success in their contributions. Everything a woman would wish to know about Christmas, how to make presents, what to give, all about the Christmas dinner and holiday decorations is given by the best authority obtainable. Women have never had so beautiful a magazine prepared for them, rich in illustration, wise in selection, helpful in tone—a perfect delight to hand and eye. A special Christmas cover binds the number. Published at one dollar a year by the Curtis Publishing Company, 433–435 Arch street, Philadelphia.

A $50,000 Dinner Set.

The Astor family possess a gold dinner-service that is the envy of every woman who has ever seen it. It is one of the most costly in this country. It is valued at fifty thousand dollars, and is now the property of Mrs. Wm. Astor. It has been in the family's possession a long time; it would be hard to describe, as it was made in different parts of the world and was picked up on odd occasions. It is unique, and has been talked about more than any dinner set in this country. The larger dishes consist of an immense plateau and centre-piece, end pieces, candelabrums, wine-coolers and pitchers. In the design is represented fruit of all description, together with unicorn and lion in repousse work. Mrs. Astor uses a white linen table-cloth of finest texture, made especially for her, with a wide lace border showing a lining of pink satin. Her table is always decorated with Glorie de Paris roses, their exquisite shade of pink matching exactly the satin underneath. —Foster Coates, in Ladies Home Journal.

Women Indifferent About Voting.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 27.—The Pittsburg Christian Advocate has been tabulating the vote of the Methodist Episcopal churches hereabouts upon the proposition to admit women as lay delegates to the General Conference. Thus far the returns have been received from seventy congregations located in the Pittsburg, Erie, East Ohio, and West Virginia Conferences. In these there 12,811 members entitled to vote, but only 3314 exercised the privilege. Of this number 2051 voted for the admission of women and 1262 against. Pastors report a singular indifference with relation to the question in some congregations, not more than one voter out of five coming to the meetings.
